OUR CITY MOURNS

Death of Chief of Police James Mernaugh Regarded As a Public Calamity.

ONLY A SHORT ILLNESS.

His Funeral the Largest Ever Held in Paris—Sketch of His Life and Incidents in His Public Career.

To say that the entire city was shocked on Saturday morning on learning of the sudden and entirely unexpected death of Chief of Police James Mernaugh, would be but feebly expressing it. Mr. Mernaugh was supposed by his friends to be in the best of health, although he had been recently complaining of severe pains in the back, caused by kidney trouble. At an early hour on Saturday morning his wife was aroused by his groanings, and hastily summoned a neighbor who then telephoned for a physician, but before he arrived Mr. Mernaugh had passed away.

In the death of James Mernaugh, familiarly called by his friends "Laddie," Paris has suffered a calamity. The benefits the city of Paris has derived from his services as Chief of Police is incalculable. He was at one and the same time a terror to evil doers, and a kind and warm friend to those who obeyed the law. It had taken him a life time to build up this reputation. As an officer he was a model one. Stern and altogether impartial in the performance of his sworn duties, he at the same time showed that he was a friend to those who were endeavoring to do right.

Many incidents could be related of acts of kindness and charity he had bestowed upon various members of the colored race in this city, and there are hundreds of them to-day who deeply and sincerely mourn his loss. At the entrance to the Catholic Church yesterday an aged and gray-haired colored woman stood with bowed head and tears flowing down her cheeks. To a friend she said: "No one will miss Mr. Mernaugh more than I. He has befriended me on several occasions when I was badly in need of a friend, and on two occasions he paid my taxes and enabled me to save my little home in Clayville." It was only recently that the writer witnessed a charitable act of his. "He" had arrested a mountaineer for being drunk and discharging a firearm on the street. The fine took all the money the fellow had and left him stranded. He appealed to the Chief that he had a wife and two children up in the mountains who were watching and waiting for his return home. Mr. Mernaugh went down into his pocket, brought up the amount necessary for the purchase of a railroad ticket, and with some advice for him in the future to let whisky alone and think more of his wife and little ones, sent him on his way rejoicing.

There was not a police officer in the country more widely known than Mr. Mernaugh. Chief of Police Dietrich, of Cincinnati, has often said he regarded him as a model police officer. Mr. Mernaugh was born in County Galway, Ireland, in 1843. He came to this country with his parents in 1850, and located in Millersburg, shortly after removing to Paris. For a short while he was a deputy officer, but has filled the position of Chief of Police for twenty-six years. He was absolutely fearless. At various times during his incumbency of the office he has taken fearful chances on his life. It has been often said that whenever he went after a man he invariably got him. It was this reputation for fearlessness which made his success as an officer. At one time he single handed and alone dispersed a mob who were gathered at the jail doors and the only damage done was the slight wounding of one of the participants. There was a certain superstitious charm about his very name, which when uttered would cause the lawless to hesitate.

He was one of the few surviving members of the "Orphan Brigade," belonging to Company G, Second Kentucky Infantry, and his record as a soldier was as brave and fearless as that of a police officer.

Mr. Mernaugh leaves two brothers, Dennis and Peter Mernaugh, and an ever loving and devoted wife, nee Miss Ella McCarney.

As soon as his death was announced, Mayor Perry issued the following proclamation: "Paris mourns the untimely death of our late Chief of Police James Mernaugh. The funeral services over his remains will be held on Monday, May 27, 1901, from 9 to 11 a. m., and as a testimonial of respect, I request that the schools close on that day and all business houses close during the hours of the funeral. BENJ. PERRY, Mayor."

In accordance with this request, during the hours of the funeral every store, bank and public building was closed with curtains drawn. The City Building was draped in mourning and will remain so for thirty days.

The funeral took place yesterday morning at nine o'clock from the Catholic Church, of which the deceased was a member, and was the largest funeral ever held in Paris. The crowds began to gather at the church as early as seven o'clock, and at the hour of nine an almost impassable crowd was congregated in the neighborhood. The services at the church were conducted by Rev. Father T. S. Major, of Frankfort, who was a comrade of the deceased, being also a member of the "Orphan Brigade." The funeral cortege was the longest ever witnessed in this city, it being estimated that there were at least two hundred vehicles in line. Every station in life was represented. Black and white, rich and poor, all were mingled in one common mass to show reverence and respect to the memory of the departed. The interment took place at the Paris Cemetery.

At the grave Capt. J. M. Thomas offered a beautiful prayer, paying a high tribute to the deceased. Forty-one ex-Confederates attended the funeral. The pall-bearers were: Honorary, Paris City Officials. Active, Capt. E. F. Spears, J. J. Corrington, W. H. Whaley, J. C. Elgin, H. M. Carpenter, Geo. Gregory, Geo. W. Hill and Simeon Doty.

RESOLUTIONS BY CITY COUNCIL. At a called session of the City Council on May 25th the following resolutions were adopted: BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PARIS, KENTUCKY:

That we have heard with the profoundest regret of the death of James Mernaugh, our Chief of Police. For thirty years he has been a citizen of Paris, and Chief of Police for twenty-six years. The death of no citizen has within the last decade cast a greater gloom over our city.

He was a thorough gentleman—charitable, kind and upright; and a fearless, energetic, efficient and honest officer. All the children knew and loved him and all the law-breakers knew and feared him. He earned and had the greatest confidence and respect of the officials and the people—we felt that with him as our chief all was well.

By his open, Christian life and well nigh perfect execution of his duties at all times, he has erected for himself a monument more lasting than brass. No eulogiums are needed at our hands. His private and official life among us speaks for itself. He has endeared himself to the hearts of us all. In his death the city has sustained an incalculable loss and we sorrow officially and individually.

Be it further resolved that the City be bereaved in mourning out of respect to his memory for thirty days; and that we attend his funeral services in a body. That our sincerest and deepest sympathy be extended to his widow and family in their bereavement and that these resolutions be spread on a page of our City Record set apart for that purpose and printed in a newspaper, and that a copy thereof be furnished his family.

CONFEDERATE VETERAN'S RESOLUTIONS: At a meeting of the Confederate Veterans Association of Bourbon county, held on the 27th day of May, 1901, to take some action expressive of the true worth of our deceased comrade, James Mernaugh.

Whereas, Divine providence has removed from our ranks our esteemed friend and comrade in the prime of his life and usefulness, whose life was characterized by fidelity to his friends, and a conscientious discharge of his duties;

First, Be it Resolved, That in the death of our comrade, we have lost a brave, true and tried soldier; the community an honorable and worthy citizen; the city a faithful and efficient public officer; his wife a kind, affectionate and devoted husband.

Second, Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his wife. Third, That they be published in the newspapers of this county.

Stock And Crop.

A. Patterson, of Mercer county, had four brood mares to produce 6 mule colts, two pairs of twins.

Mr. Joseph M. Hall has bought from an Ohio party a fine bull for which he paid over one thousand dollars.

Owing to the sharp competition for the thoroughbred yearling produce of Central Kentucky farms, one New York firm is paying all expenses of transportation to the market.

The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association will offer in addition to the $7,000 purse given by Thomas W. Lawson for a race in Lexington in October between Charley Herr and Cresus, a $500 trophy to the champion stallion. The trophy will likely be a handsome cup.

The Stanford Interior-Journal says that the most profitable crop in Garrard county was grown on David Thompson's farm; 167 acres yielded 272,083 pounds and every stalk made hemp.

This is 1,629 pounds per acre, and the crop brought $13,604. The farm consists of 512 acres of the best land in the county.

Go To Paris, Ky.

The Taylorville (Ill.) Courier and Democrat says:

"Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Altmeyer left Monday evening for Paris, Ky., where they will make their future home. Mr. Altmeyer will establish a cigar factory in Paris, a larger town than Taylorville and now without a single cigar factory. George will manufacture his famous Pagoda down there, and if the Kentuckians don't like it they don't know what's good, that's all. The Courier takes pleasure in recommending Mr. Altmeyer to the people of Paris. He is a business man of the strictest integrity, and enjoys the full confidence of our citizens. He will prove a valuable acquisition to Paris."

Need Gasses :

The eye being a rather delicate organ, great care should be exercised in the selection of proper glasses. Many believe that glasses should be restored to only when the sight becomes so defective as not to be able to do without. This is a great mistake which must be combated. Whenever there is unmistakable evidence of the need of their aid, they should be used. A neglect of this rule sometimes produces mischief which results in serious trouble if the course be persisted in. Our Dr. C. H. ITS A WASTE OF WORDS

To attempt to describe all of the seasonal shoes in our store would be a waste of words. We would rather have you inspect in person. We might talk for a column about what we have and not impress you half so much as a few minutes spent in looking at the goods. Our low cut shoes, for women, are particularly snappy and stylish this season—the foot too as only good shoes can. We can fit your foot as smoothly as a kid glove fits the hand, and with a shoe that is dainty, stylish and perfectly reliable. You will need them, buy early—more chance to get fitted with just the shoe that you want.
